

Series: The Green Fairies

Book: Edie the Garden Fairy

Project Garden

"It's another lovely day, Kirsty!" Rachel exclaimed happily as she and her best friend, Kirsty Tate, hurried along the winding country lane. The blue sky above them was dotted with fluffy white clouds, and the sun was warm on their faces. "Isn't Rainspell Island just the most magical place?"

"I can't think of anywhere else I'd rather go on holiday," Kirsty replied, gazing over the lush green fields. The aquamarine sea sparkled in the distance and seagulls wheeled through the crisp, salty air.

The Tates and the Walkers had arrived on the island three days ago to spend the autumn half-term week there.

"It's great that we're helping to keep Rainspell clean and beautiful, isn't it, Rachel?" Kirsty added. "Do you have the leaflet that came yesterday?"

Rachel pulled the leaflet out of her pocket. Project Green was written at the top, and underneath it read:

Would you like to help Gardening Club make a NEW garden out of an area of disused land? Then please join us at our site in Butterfly Lane tomorrow. Wear old clothes!

"I'm glad we decided to volunteer," Kirsty said, as they studied the leaflet.

"We might have our friends the Green Fairies to help us with the environment, but we humans have to do our bit, too!" Rachel nodded.

www.rainbowmagic.co.uk

Rainspell Island was a very special place because it was where she and Kirsty had first become good friends with the fairies.

Since then the girls had had many magical, amazing adventures while helping the fairies to outwit cold, sly Jack Frost and his goblin servants.

But now it was Rachel and Kirsty's turn to ask the fairies for help. When the girls had arrived on Rainspell Island, they'd been shocked to see lots of litter strewn around the golden beach, so they'd asked the king and queen of Fairyland to help clean up the human world with fairy magic.

King Oberon and Queen Titania had decided that seven fairies currently in training would become the Green Fairies. These fairies would help Rachel and Kirsty make the world a greener place. If the Green Fairies were successful, they would become fully-fledged, permanent fairies.

But just as the Fairyland Wand ceremony was about to begin, the goblins had stolen the wands that were to be presented to the Green Fairies.

Then Jack Frost's icy spell had immediately sent the goblins and wands spinning away into the human world to hide. Jack Frost was determined not to help the world become greener, but Rachel and Kirsty were equally determined to make sure all seven of the Green Fairies got their wands back from the goblins.

Then, together, they could carry on the task of helping the world to become a cleaner, greener place.

Read the rest of Edie the Garden Fairy and discover what magic happens next!

www.rainbowmagic.co.uk