Book: Sadie the Saxophone Fairy

The Competition Begins

‘We’d better hurry, Kirsty,’ Rachel Walker said to her best friend, Kirsty Tate, as they jumped out of the car. ‘The talent competition will be starting soon!’

The girls waved at Mrs Tate, who had just dropped them off, and then they hurried into New Harmony Shopping Mall.

‘Good afternoon, everyone,’ said a voice over the loudspeaker system as the girls went inside. ‘The auditions for the National Talent Competition are about to start, so please make your way to the north end of the shopping mall.’

Rachel and Kirsty glanced at each other as they wove their way through the crowds.

‘There are lots of people here, aren’t there?’ Kirsty said anxiously. ‘I hope we get Sadie’s Magic Saxophone back before Frosty and his Gobilicious Band take to the stage!’

The girls had been asked by their friends, the Music Fairies, to help them find their seven Magical Musical Instruments, which had been stolen from Fairyland’s Royal School of Music by Jack Frost and his goblin servants.

The Magical Musical Instruments were extremely important because they made music joyful and harmonious for everyone in both the human and fairy worlds. Since the instruments had gone missing, music everywhere had been ruined.

But Jack Frost had his own plans for the Magical Musical Instruments. Along with his goblin henchmen he had formed a pop group called Frosty and his Gobolicious Band, and he intended to use the magical powers of the instruments to win first prize in the National Talent Competition.

Rachel and Kirsty had managed to return six of the Magical Musical Instruments to Fairyland, but they were still looking for Sadie's saxophone, and the girls knew that time was running out.

'I'm so worried that Jack Frost and the goblins are going to win the competition,' Rachel confided to Kirsty as they hurried towards the stage that had been set up at one end of the mall.

'If Frosty and his Gobolicious Band win that recording contract with MegaBig Records, it won't be long before everyone finds out about the existence of Fairyland!'
