

Series: The Special Fairies

Book: Holly the Christmas Fairy

A Magical Mistake

‘Only three days to go!’ Rachel Walker sighed happily. She was pinning Christmas cards onto long pieces of red ribbon, ready to hang on the living room wall. ‘I love Christmas! Don’t you Kirsty?’

Kirsty Tate, Rachel’s best friend, nodded, ‘Of course I do,’ she replied, handing Rachel another pile of cards. ‘It’s a magical time, isn’t it?’

Rachel and Kirsty laughed, and touched the golden locket they both wore around their necks.

The two girls shared a secret. No-one else knew about it but they were friends with the fairies! Kirsty and Rachel had visited Fairyland several times when their help had been needed. The first time, they had rescued the Rainbow Fairies after they were banished by Jack Frost’s nasty spell. Then Jack Frost and his goblin servants had stolen the magic tail feather from Doodle, the cockerel in charge of fairy weather. The girls had helped the Weather Fairies to get Doodle’s feathers back.

In return, the Fairy King and Queen had given gold locket to Rachel and Kirsty. The lockets were full of magic fairy dust which the girls could use to take them to Fairyland if ever they needed help from the fairies.

‘Thanks for asking me to stay,’ said Kirsty,, cutting another piece of ribbon. ‘Mum says she and Dad will collect me on Christmas Eve.’

‘We might get some snow before then!’ Rachel smiled. ‘The weather’s getting much colder. I wonder what Christmas is like in Fairyland ...’
