Swimming Pool Puzzle

'Fetch, Button!' Rachel Walker called, throwing her dog's favourite ball down the garden.

Kirsty Tate, Rachel's best friend, who was staying with the Walkers for a week of the Easter holidays, smiled. 'Buttons loves exercise, doesn't he?' she said, as the dog bounded after the ball.

'And we're nearly as fit as him, after the sporty week we've had so far!' Rachel grinned. Unknown to her parents, she and Kirsty had been on a new fairy adventure this week, helping the Sporty Fairies track down their missing Magic Sporty Objects. Rachel felt as if she and Kirsty were the luckiest girls in the world, being friends with the fairies.

'Good dog!' said Rachel's dad, coming out into the garden with Mrs Walker, as Buttons rushed back with the ball in his mouth. Buttons dropped the ball at Rachel's feet, then went to his water bowl to drink thirstily.

'Phew, its hot,' Mrs Walker said fanning her self. 'The perfect day for a swim, I'd say.'

Rachel and Kirsty looked at one another excitedly. Swimming would be a great idea-especially as Samantha the Swimming Fairy's Magic Goggles were still missing.

'Ooh yes, can we go swimming?' Rachel asked.

'Tippington Pool is closed,' Mr Walker pointed out, 'so you'd have to go to Aqua World in the next village.' Then he frowned. 'But the car's being serviced in the garage; I won't be able to drive you there.'
